Hi Rebecca,

If residents in CO would like to have their wells tested, direct them to our call center. We enter the information into a report that goes directly to the Westend Solutions who schedules the tests. Right now, they are 3-7 days out on making the appointments based on the volume of requests.

Awesome, thanks.

Also, what is the process for folks who want their wells sampled? Do you just refer them to one of our staff?

Oh it was on the document:

“The City of Durango asks that residents continue to conserve water until they are able to begin pulling water from the Animas again. While local officials and EPA would like to thank the community for the out pouring of support, it is best to volunteer with local volunteer group such as (see list).”

If you don't have one, that's fine, just wanted to ask

Hi Rebecca,

I'm having the call center email me the names of the people who called in to volunteer in a clean up effort. I haven't seen a list of volunteer groups. Maybe you know something I don't?
